NOGALES' GROWTH.

Many Handsome Homes in Course of Construction.

There is no boom in Nogales but a steady healthy growth is visible everywhere. A large number of neat residences and business buildings are in course of construction showing that people have faith in the future of Nogales. No one can doubt that when they take a look at such buildings as the Masonic temple, T. J. Wylie's two-story brick and James Breen's sand stone business block. These buildings are a credit to any town. Then the residences being built are all substantial brick and adobe. Jose M. Elias is just completing a two-story brick dwelling on the Sonora side that is the finest in this country and it is being fitted out in modern style with fancy electric light fixtures. W. J. Osborn, Mrs. J. W. Wilson, Mrs. F. M. Main, F. A. Moreno and several others have just completed neat cottages and the contracts have been let for several others. Nogales is prosperous and will continue to be so.

IN THE AJOS.

W. H. Randall Sees a Bear that Weighs a Ton.

W. H. Randall is in the Ajo mountains working his copper mines. He will develop them considerably before returning to Nogales. The following letter, written on a manilla paper bag, was received from Mr. Randall yesterday by burro mail:

IN CAMP, AJO MOUNTAINS, September 1st, 1897.

FRIEND KING:

I reached here safe and sound. Will commence active work on my copper mine this week. The weather in the mountains is simply delightful, though on the Sonora River, eight miles from camp it is a veritable G-string climate. For those seeking recreation this is indeed a delightful country.

The mountains are well watered, timbered and grassed. Here the sportsman can be fully satisfied. Bear, deer and turkey are plentiful; the latter are not as large as ostriches, but they are whoppers.

I came in rather close contact to a bear yesterday morning and only being armed with a pole pick I got ready to shin up a tree when he turned the other way on seeing me and I never saw a bear run faster. It is a question still in my mind which one of us was the worst frightened, but of one fact I am morally certain that the bear weighed over a ton.

The new gun, is all right. I made a long distance shot last evening at a deer, breaking both his shoulders. The distance was not so far that the meat spoiled before I reached it, but as Texas would say it was "two sights and a lookout."

Yours Truly,
W. H. RANDALL.
